The University of Kansas

Critical Incidents (CR)

Competency: The trained officer will develop plans and identify resources for addressing uncommon, infrequent, or unexpected events with a high probability of overwhelming officers.

Learning Objectives:

- CR 1. Examine basic principles of responding to major incidents, including the benefits of perimeter setup (hot/warm/cold zones), and its effects on various elements of mutual aid, support agencies, responding and assisting units, and other resources.
- CR 2. Examine the officer's role within the Incident Command System. The officer will assess the need to establish and follow a chain of command and appreciate how scene management is utilized to coordinate emergency response.
- CR 3. Correctly evaluate the need for, and application of, life-saving medical interventions, such as self-care and buddy aid, when higher levels of care are unavailable.
- CR 4. Analyze situations and circumstances relative to crowds with regard for the rights and safety of the persons involved and the safety of the community.
- CR 5. Identify issues when responding to complex scenes and solve problems related to train derailments, aviation and industrial accidents, multi-vehicle and tractor trailer crashes, and situations involving hazardous materials.
- CR 6. Examine issues associated with conducting simple and complex notifications and evacuations of areas and facilities.
- CR 7. Execute tactics to safely stop homicides in progress utilizing lawful means. The officer will examine methods used in mass killings (shootings, stabbings, bombings and arson) and determine ways to counter them and preserve life.
- CR 8. Appreciate critical stress and recognize the benefits of critical incident stress defusing and debriefs.

Juveniles (JV)

Competency: The trained officer will manage juvenile matters, including arrest or custody of the juvenile offender, while applying federal, state, and local guidelines and procedures on transporting, housing, or placement when the juvenile is a victim or a suspect.

Learning Objectives:

- JV 1. Recognize the unique challenges presented when policing juveniles, and identify qualities that distinguish juveniles from other members of the community.
- JV 2. Analyze laws and policies specific to juvenile offenders, that regulate their arrest, transportation, and placement.

- JV 3. Recognize signs of gang activity, explain gang mentality, and identify the reasons juveniles join gangs.
- JV 4. Compare and contrast juvenile delinquency and runaways, and their vulnerability to victimization. Officers will assess resources and techniques for investigating missing and abducted children and develop prevention strategies to reduce the risk of criminal behavior and victimization.
- JV 5. Identify the role of the Department for Children and Families and the District Attorney's Office in a child abuse investigation and explain the resources they provide to a victim and investigator.

Resilience (RE)

Competency: The trained officer will evaluate the effects of the policing profession upon their emotional and general health. The officer will develop methods for coping with stressors.

Learning Objectives:

- RE 1. Explain the importance of resilience and health-related quality of life and develop an individual resiliency plan.
- RE 2. Recognize the effects of stress on the human body, apply common stress reduction techniques, and develop an appreciation for their positive effects on quality of life and job performance

Evidence (EV)

Competency: The trained officer will identify, collect, process and preserve different types of evidence to be used in the ongoing investigation of crimes and in the furtherance of legal processes.

Learning Objectives:

- EV 1. Recognize a potential or identified crime scene, apply safe and legal techniques to secure the scene, and assist responding agencies while maintaining the integrity of the scene.
- EV 2. Apply knowledge of criminal activity and how crimes are committed to find, collect, and preserve fingerprint evidence.
- EV 3. Recognize evidence and identify risks in the collection process and utilize appropriate safety equipment and protocols. Officers will recognize proper packaging for items that pose a risk to personnel who may handle the item(s) (sharps, bio, firearms).
- EV 4. Document crime scene evidence through the use of photographs, reports, and custody slips. Officers will examine how to return, destroy, or prepare evidence for release or other disposal.
- EV 5. Properly store and maintain evidence in the field, and submit the evidence to a department property room or responsible person.
- EV 6. Examine the officer's role in collecting and packaging evidence for submission to outside agencies and for analysis or use in an outside agency's investigation and/or prosecution.

EV 7. Present evidence in court utilizing appropriate protocols and testimony methods.

Public Trust (PU)

Competency: The trained officer will recognize the legitimacy of law enforcement by society built through community problem solving, proper application of force, and analyzing and critiquing officer behavior as it affects community perception.

Learning Objectives:

- PU 1. Develop an appreciation for the concept of lawful authority, legitimacy, and submission to government will. Examine the limits of governmental authority and the concept of procedural justice.
- PU 2. Analyze the concept of implicit bias and its implications on policing. Describe how biased policing affects law enforcement agencies and the communities they serve.
- PU 3. Analyze historical events and incorporate informed interactions with special populations to meet the needs of community members.
- PU 4. Interact fairly and impartially with special populations in both personal and professional capacities with an understanding of the unique legal considerations (e.g., Americans with Disabilities Act).
- PU 5. Develop plans to assist with solving criminal or civil problems arising or existing in a community or area, including situations in which law enforcement authority is limited.
- PU 6. Critique officer behavior as it affects community perception and public trust with an appreciation for overcoming negative historical impacts of policing. Focus on rebuilding relationships and examine the history of policing and the formation of community perceptions.
- PU 7. Examine police actions that contribute to public trust in contrast to those that draw public scrutiny. Officers will recognize how appropriate transparency and community involvement add to a trusting relationship between law enforcement and the community.
- PU 8. Recognize the ongoing cultural changes in society, and accept that changing societal perceptions require officers to adapt their policing methods.
- PU 9. Justify enforcing unpopular laws and mandates and explain the necessity of fairness. Discuss how the officer's ability to communicate the needs of differing groups within their communities creates balance within the legal system.
- PU 10. Explain how law enforcement represents the face of government at the national, state, and local levels.

Foundational Policing (FP)
